

Veterinary and Microbiological Sciences

 www.asmusa.org

AMERICAN SOCIETY FOR MICROBIOLOGY – largest international organization that promotes microbiological sciences and those professionals having degrees or special interest in the fields. Website provides access to membership, networking with other members, websites resources, 11 journals, and organization related materials. Job placement and resume match programs are member-based only. There is also an ASM Career Connection page where jobs can be posted and reviewed. And of special note is their Minority Program page that has several links to different committees and programs, including many employment information links, developed to encourage under represented faculty and students in the microbiological sciences.

 www.avma.org

AMERICAN VETERINARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION – organization which promotes the field and professionals in veterinary medicine. Large website with many resources and links to other organizations, members, and journals. There is also an online Career Center where jobs can be posted