Have A Fun August!

August is upon us and it’s looking to be a fun month before “back to school time”. I hope you’ll enjoy some of this month’s events.

August is also a time for many Anishinabe who live along the lake water to prepare for the wild rice harvest. It was called by many different names such as Manomin, Mahnomen and Manoomin.

By whatever name, it is considered "A Gift from the Great Spirit....a sacred component in their culture.

The rice is harvested with a canoe: one person “knocks” rice into the canoe with two small poles ("knockers") while the other paddles slowly or uses a push pole. For these groups, this harvest is an important cultural (and often economic) event.

Time to think of the delicious, healthy recipes you’ll enjoy the year ‘round.

Julie Buffalohead, an enrolled member of the Ponca Tribe of Oklahoma, is a Minnesota-based artist who has enjoyed both critical and popular success with her playful yet provocative drawings and paintings. This mid-career survey of her work is a traveling exhibition organized by the Minnesota Museum of American Art, St. Paul.

Buffalohead’s work challenges stereotypes of American Indians through narrative imagery drawn from myths and fairytales, Native culture, and personal experience. Having woodland creatures play the provocateurs rather than human figures makes the artist’s critiques of images of Natives and women less stringent without dulling their critical edge. When human figures do appear in her work, they are often dolls and toys or disguised as animals by wearing a mask. Shown at Plains Art Museum through August 29.

☆☆☆ Native American Roles ☆☆☆ "Bullies"☆☆ "Extras" for POWWOW SCENES
♥ Everyone Welcome To Audition!! :)

- With or Without Experience
Southdale Library - Public Conference Room | Edina, MN!! | July 25, 2015 | 9 A.M. - 1 P.M.
- Bullies: Teen Two, Teen Three [11-16] Native American - From the looks of it, these boys are confident leaders, but at the heart of it, they are followers looking for attention. For several years they have singled out Rabbit for being quiet and different. They bully him as a way to impress one another. They are also excellent powwow dancers.
- Background Extras for POWWOW SCENES:
- Many Background Dancers [In FULL Regalia]
- Background Powwow Participants
- Powwow Attendees
- ◇ What to expect at the auditions:

Auditions will be held in a small conference room. The Producer, Director and Writer will be sitting in. A camera will be set up to record the audition. You will be asked to read the sides (a short piece from the script) that may be provided to you over email, ahead of time. If your piece of the script includes conversation, one of the Producer's will read with you. You may be asked to read for more than one part. For non speaking roles, you may be asked to read something that it not directly from this script - this will help to determine acting ability and comfortability performing in front of the camera. You may be asked to read a piece several times, with different direction. It is pertinent that you arrive on schedule. It is advised that you arrive 10-15 minutes early in order to check in and look over any materials that may not have been sent to you in advance. Please bring your picture or headshot. Include a resume if you have one.

» The shoot dates for Waabooz have changed to August 11-15, 2015. The film will be shot on the Red Cliff Band of Lake Superior Chippewa Indian reservation in northern Wisconsin, which is where Wenonah's (writer) family is from. The script has been reviewed by and has the full support of the tribe and the community and they're looking forward to having this story told with and by them.
