

Examples of National Leadership Development Programs

Examples of national leadership development programs include, but are not limited to those below. Faculty are encouraged to consult with mentors and other experienced faculty and administrators for suggestions for programs not listed here.

- HERS (Higher Education Resource Services) is an educational non-profit providing leadership and management development for women in higher education administration. Since 1972 HERS has served the higher education community through the preparation of more than 3,000 women leaders attending HERS Institutes and participating in a variety of HERS Activities. Today HERS Alumnae across the United States, as well as in Canada, South Africa and other nations, are in positions of leadership at all levels-- including most senior positions."

- ACE – “The American Council on Education offers a series of general national workshops for division and department chairs and deans specifically designed to focus on departmental leadership. These workshops seek to support the development of the chair as an academic leader within the department and within the institution as a whole. The program offers three national workshops each year: in February in California; in June in Washington, DC; and in November in Texas.”

- “A key focus of the University of Washington ADVANCE CIC is leadership development. Through half-day quarterly ADVANCE Leadership workshops, department chairs, deans, and other faculty are offered professional development workshops to help them become more effective leaders. For each workshop, the Department Chairs are encouraged to invite an emerging leader so that other faculty can be exposed to academic leadership issues.”
