

THE MEETING

A Battle of Philosophies:
Non-Violence vs. Self Defense

TUESDAY, FEB. 24, 2015
7:30 p.m., Memorial Union Great Room

“The Meeting” is a one-act play by Jeff Stetson, presented by OWT-A-TOWN PRODUCTIONS, which depicts a fictional secret meeting of two of the most important men of modern times: Malcolm X and Martin Luther King Jr. Staged in a Harlem hotel in 1965, they debate their varying approaches to the same grave social problems. Differing in their philosophies, but alike in their mutual respect, the two men manage to find common ground as champions for civil rights.

Sponsored by the Office of Multicultural Programs and Campus Attractions Issues and Ideas.
