KOREAN ADOPTION HISTORIES IN THE PUBLIC EYE

American Newspaper Coverage of Korean Adoption from 1952-Present

TUESDAY
APRIL 29

Noon – 1 p.m.
Memorial Union
Century Theater

Kim Park Nelson, associate professor of American multicultural studies, Minnesota State University Moorhead

Park Nelson will analyze print news coverage about Korean adoptees in Seattle; Portland, Ore.; and Minneapolis-St. Paul. The stories demonstrate how public perceptions of Korean adoption have changed over time.

Born in Korea and adopted to the United States in 1971, Park Nelson's research focuses on the cultural, social and political significance of Korean adoption to the United States.
