

Prairie Roses for Heritage Hospitality

Are you a heritage traveler of the northern plains?

Have you experienced outstanding hospitality or guidance in your travels?

The enjoyment of grassroots heritage tourism depends on the kindness of strangers. Travelers seeking real things and heritage experiences in the countryside of the northern plains depend on the people and communities of the region to help them out. They need hosts, native guides, and just plain hospitable folks if they are to find the good things they are looking for.

The Center for Heritage Renewal at North Dakota State University wants to recognize and commend those prairie people who extend heritage hospitality to heritage travelers—who make extraordinary efforts to provide information, guidance, hospitality, or service to travelers seeking real things and heritage experiences in our region.

If you have experienced this sort of heritage hospitality, then consider nominating the person providing it for recognition and commendation by the Center for Heritage Renewal. It's online, and it's simple:

1. Go to the home page of the Center for Heritage Renewal, here – www.ndsu.edu/heritage
2. Follow the link to Heritage Trails, the center's Facebook group (accessible to members and non-members of Facebook)
3. In the "Prairie Roses" discussion board topic of Heritage Trails, provide the who, what, when, and where of the heritage hospitality you received.

Send a prairie rose to someone who has helped you out along the way!
