

VISIONS FOR THE FUTURE
College of Human Development and Education,
North Dakota State University (NDSU)

The mission of the College of Human Development and Education at NDSU is to provide educational programs and conduct research and other scholarly activities that focus on the lives of individuals and their families as they interact in work, educational, and living environments.

Vision 1: To provide programs which meet the current and future needs of students and society.

Vision 2: To provide quality academic environments which facilitate the effectiveness and efficiency of resources and people.

Vision 3: To serve the diverse educational needs of a global audience through the use of technology as enhancement or delivery method in the teaching and learning environment.

Vision 4: To contribute to the enhancement of economic development in North Dakota utilizing research and discipline-based information

The mission and visions of the College of Human Development and Education build on the North Dakota University System Roundtable Cornerstones and the NDSU themes designated by President Joe Chapman. Long range and annual college goals are identified to build on those visions. Unit and faculty goals, in turn, build on college goals.
