Dear Larry, Amy & Kent:

I lingered after the meeting today with the intent of going over to chat with you all. But I got caught up in a couple of conversations and didn't make it over to the table where you were gathered. Anyway, I wanted to say thanks for your willingness to listen to the concerns of the Faculty Senate and concerned interlopers (Bernie and I). As you can see, there is considerable passion for general education among the faculty. Clearly, there are serious concerns about the current state of the proposal. I hope you won't mistake those concerns and the aforementioned passion for simple obstinacy and disrespect for your time and effort in this endeavor. I look forward to continuing the dialog about how best to design an undiluted gen. ed. curriculum that can achieve the target outcomes.

Best regards,

Kent (the lesser)
