2017-18 Annual Report
Dear Friends of 4-H,

As a North Dakota 4-H-grown individual, I have been involved with North Dakota’s 4-H program in one way or another for 30 years. In those 30 years, I was a 4-H member and state 4-H Ambassador and leader, and now have served many years on the North Dakota 4-H Foundation as a director and current chairman of the board.

Being involved with this program, I have seen firsthand how 4-H programs such as Communication Arts, Consumer Choices, Project Expo, Clothing Revue, Shooting Sports, 4-H Camp, Livestock Judging, 4-H Ambassadors, Extension Youth Conference, county and state fairs and many other programs have a major impact on our state’s youth and how it forms them into our leaders of tomorrow. 4-H programs such as these give our youth opportunities to network with other youth from their communities and around the state.

National 4-H opportunities such as National 4-H Conference and Congress and National Ag Day student training can send our North Dakota 4-H’ers to Washington, D.C., or Atlanta, Ga., for the opportunity to work directly with 4-H’ers from around the nation, as well as with our government officials.

I have witnessed firsthand that it is programs, events and opportunities such as these that lead to lifelong friends on local, state and national levels. Every one of these programs, events and opportunities would not be possible without financial support from the North Dakota 4-H Foundation.

Both my wife and I come from a long line of 4-H’ers, and we now have our children involved in the North Dakota 4-H program. I want my kids to have the same 4-H opportunities that my wife and I had. These opportunities are why my family continues to support the North Dakota 4-H Foundation on an annual basis.

4-H Programs Benefit from Foundation Support

NATIONAL YOUTH SCIENCE DAY

The 2017 experiment, Incredible Wearables, included unplugged coding activities and the construction of a wearable device. The device measured steps and heart rate and included a design piece so team members could make their incredible wearable fashionable.

More than 800 youth participated. The 4-H Foundation purchased the kits for 4-H clubs throughout the state.

Seventy percent of youth who participated reported that the 2018 experiment “made me want to learn more about science” and 60% reported that the 2018 experiment “helped me learn how to use science to solve problems.”

Thank you to Alice Amundson

Alice Amundson retired from the Center for 4-H Youth Development and NDSU Extension Service in May of 2018. Alice started work as an Administrative Secretary with the state 4-H office and Extension Service in September 1998. Alice worked with many Extension staff, volunteers and donors over those past 20 years providing valuable support in the form of preparation of correspondence, managing databases, event and meeting coordination and fund accounting for the state 4-H office and the 4-H Foundation.

In June 2018, the North Dakota 4-H Foundation Board met in Dickinson. The board toured the Luhman property. After Dale’s death in 2011, Tammy donated the farm to the North Dakota 4-H Foundation to give children the opportunity to experience agriculture and the country lifestyle.
Giving to 4-H

The 4-H program needs your support to accomplish its mission and goals.

4-H creates supportive learning environments by providing hands-on learning opportunities through club, camping, school-enrichment, after-school and special-interest programming. The program reached more than 27,000 youth last year.

People have chosen to give in many ways:

- Cash gifts (outright or through a multiyear pledge) — JoAnn Butler, a former 4-H leader in Cass County, provided a $50,000 cash gift to complete the Outdoor Education Building at the North Dakota 4-H Camp near Washburn. That contribution came with the naming rights to the building. It’s now known as the Butler Outpost. This gift, along with a $100,000 contribution from the North Dakota Rural Rehabilitation Corp., completed the $150,000 project. Butler believes in 4-H and what it can do for kids if you can get them started.

- Memorial and tribute gifts — Make a lasting tribute to the memory of family members and friends with a donation to 4-H. For many years, this has been a very personal way to honor someone who has had an impact in your life. In 2018, Cindy Swenson, a volunteer leader who provided leadership to the 4-H Clothing Revue program at the North Dakota State Fair for many years, died of cancer. She requested that memorial be made to the North Dakota 4-H Foundation. Cindy’s generosity has made a tremendous impact on people across the state.

  The 4-H Foundation honored Cindy at the 2018 State Fair during the 4-H Project Expo and Clothing Revue awards program.

  “We feel blessed to have known Cindy as a 4-H leader and a special and dear friend. She was an amazing lady with so much talent.”

  — Howard and Paulette Thorson

- Bequests (gifts by will, whether in the form of cash, securities, property or life insurance designation) — Wayne and Elaine Hankel provided the 4-H Foundation with $14,385 from a life insurance policy. Wayne and Elaine have been Rosette Society members for a number of years. The 4-H Foundation’s Rosette Society recognizes good stewards who have made or will be making significant gifts in the form of a bequest or other planned gift.

- Endowments — They are intended to be a perpetual source of funding for the foundation. While the principal remains in the endowment, the interest earned is used to support the stated purpose of the endowment. The North Dakota 4-H Foundation has been fortunate to have been the beneficiary of endowments for several years.

  In November 2017, Extension Director Chris Boerboom challenged current and former Extension leaders to raise $50,000 for the naming rights to the Clark Cabin at the North Dakota 4-H Camp. Including a contribution from former Extension director Myron Johnsrud, the challenge raised more than $100,000 for an endowment to support the ongoing operation and maintenance of the North Dakota 4-H Camp and the naming of the Extension Leaders Cabin.

  “I have been involved in 4-H all my life since I was 10 years old,” Wayne says. “I have seen the positive influence that 4-H has on the lives of young people. I continually see the results of 4-H by meeting people who have been in 4-H and hearing the testimonials they give about what an impact the 4-H program has had on them personally. Many have children in 4-H who continue to thrive through the 4-H experience as well. Elaine and I have tried to support 4-H in a variety of ways, including our time, expertise and financial support as these young people are our future.”

  — Wayne Hankel

  “We chose to support 4-H because the judging program is unlike any other youth experience and the skills learned in 4-H judging are really used lifelong.”

  — Lynn Moser, Burleigh County
Dorinda Rutschke of Zeeland, N.D., is the North Dakota 4-H Hall of Fame honoree for 2018.

Rutschke has been active in the Emmons County 4-H program since her youth. She was a member of Emmons County 4-H for 13 years and has been a leader for 16 years. She served as Emmons County 4-H Council president for many years and continues to be a countywide leader.

“Whether it’s empowering 4-H youth in her club to reach their full potentials or stepping up to help out with a fundraiser, she has had an active role in Emmons County 4-H,” says Acacia Stuckle, the NDSU Extension agent in Emmons County.

Rutschke also has volunteered to judge small animals at the Tri-County Fair and assisted with fall awards events and Achievement Days. In addition, she has served as a judge at district 4-H Communication Arts events. In Emmons County, Rutschke received the 4-H Volunteer Award in 2007, Outstanding Service to 4-H Award in 2009 and 4-H Alumni Award in 2010.

Rutschke’s family was recognized as a 4-H Century Family in 2016 for the combined service of Rutschke, her parents and daughter.

“Dorinda truly believes in 4-H and the opportunities it provides our youth,” Stuckle says. “She is a tireless advocate for 4-H. She is always willing to volunteer her time, talents and resources to the 4-H program. Her impact to our 4-H program is immeasurable, and we are so grateful to work with her.”
North Dakota 4-H Century Families Named

The North Dakota 4-H Century Family program recognizes families with a combined 100 years or more of membership and/or volunteer service in 4-H.

We honor and thank these families for their long, sustained involvement in the 4-H program.

North Dakota 4-H Foundation Mission

The North Dakota 4-H Foundation secures and manages financial resources to support the North Dakota 4-H program. It is a nonprofit organization that generates private, grant and other funds to work in partnership with NDSU Extension’s 4-H youth development program. It provides funds for hands-on learning and leadership development experiences at the club, county, regional and national levels. It also conducts a scholarship program for youth pursuing post-secondary education opportunities.

Visit www.ndsu.edu/4h/foundation for more information or call the foundation at 701-231-8569.
