State of Bison Battalion
As Cadet Command ramps up celebrations for the 100 year anniversary of ROTC it is a great opportunity to reflect on where the NDSU ROTC program has been and where it is going. Many Alumni reached out a couple years ago when it was announced that the program would be closing after the 2014-2015 school year. I am happy to announce that that has been completely removed from consideration and this year the program will commission seventeen new lieutenants into three different State’s National Guards and four branches of the Army on active duty. We have similar prospects for both of the next two years and a strong freshman class with the most diverse array of students in any class within recent memory. That class will see us out to our one hundred twenty fifth year of military training conducted at the university. I hope you all enjoy seeing what the Battalion is up to and encourage you all to follow our social media updates as well as stop by the Bentson Bunker if you are around campus.

2016 ROTC Military Ball
Each year Bison Battalion puts on a military ball to foster comradery among Cadets and their families, honor outstanding service and hard work with the presentation of medals and ribbons, and recognize the bright futures of the senior class who will be commissioning into their respective branches at the end of the year. This year the military ball will be held at Avalon West Event Center in Fargo. There will be a formal dinner, a speech by the Chief of Staff of the Minnesota NG Colonel John Kolb, and a dance at the end with door prizes. Cadets are currently carrying out fundraising for the ball by contacting local businesses for donations. If you would be interested in attending, contact us using one of the methods below.

100 Year Anniversary
The North Dakota State University Army ROTC program will be celebrating 100 years of operation this spring with the construction of a monument on the NDSU campus. The monument will show the Bison Battalion’s pride in the Lieutenants it produces for the United States Army. The ceremony will be held on Saturday the 16th of April. The Cadets have raised over $4000 but still have about $1500 to go. Contact us if you would like to help.
