Bulletin Description

Primary goal: Students will learn and practice using specific strategies for writing clear, correct, and audience-appropriate academic documents. In addition, they will investigate writing expectations and analyze academic writing in their own discipline.

Grading: satisfactory/unsatisfactory.

Course Description & Objectives

This course is designed to help students from all departments at NDSU become successful writers in their academic and post-academic careers. The basic assumption of the course is that successful writing is writing that meets the needs and expectations of its target audience. Students will learn to identify elements of clarity and style that constitute successful writing, and they will practice writing clear, correct, and audience-appropriate texts. In addition, students will analyze writing and research discourse practices in their fields of study.

The objectives of the course are for students to do the following:

1. Develop an understanding of audience and its role in writing;
2. Develop a working understanding of issues around clarity, correctness, style, and readability in academic writing;
3. Practice writing academic prose that is clear, correct, and effective; and
4. Investigate conventions and expectations of writing in their disciplines.

Policies and Procedures

Attendance, Participation, and Assignments: Students are expected to do the following:

1. Attend all class meetings;
2. Complete required readings and assignments; and
3. Participate actively, professionally, and in a spirit of positive collaboration in all course activities and interactions.

If a situation arises whereby they are unable to meet the above expectations, students are required to inform the instructor by email. Students are responsible for making up any missed work.

Attendance Statement: The above attendance expectations conform to NDSU attendance policies, which can be read at www.ndsu.edu/fileadmin/policy/333.pdf. Veterans and student service members with special circumstances or who are activated are encouraged to notify the instructor as soon as possible and are encouraged to provide Activation Orders.

Accommodations: Any students with disabilities or other special needs, who need special accommodations in this course, are invited to share these concerns or requests with the instructor and contact the Disability Services Office (www.ndsu.edu/disabilityservices) as soon as possible.

Academic Honesty: The academic community is operated on the basis of honesty, integrity, and fair play. NDSU Policy 335: Code of Academic Responsibility and Conduct applies to cases in which cheating, plagiarism, or other academic misconduct have occurred in an instructional context. Students found guilty of academic misconduct are subject to penalties, up to and possibly including suspension and/or expulsion. Student academic misconduct records are maintained by the Office of Registration and Records. Informational resources about academic honesty for students and instructional staff members can be found at www.ndsu.edu/academichonesty.
