Welcome! To the 91st Year of the NDSU Women's Club. A Year of Fresh Events and New Ideas

Welcome! President's Message

Welcome everyone to the fall edition of the NDSU Women's Club newsletter. I would like to thank all of those members whose work, past and present, continues to create opportunities for our club to extend its legacy and enhance relationships within our communities and the region. We are a diverse organization of 119 members. About 20% of our members have international backgrounds representing 17 different countries.

Historically, our club has experienced changes in vision as our university and home communities demanded changes. In 1920, the club was composed of faculty wives and a few women from the college staff representing North Dakota Agricultural College. A written invitation from a club member was required to join. In 1977, the club's vision changed as the membership was opened to all university-related personnel, including students. More recently, the scope of the NDSU Women's Club has broadened to embrace anyone who supports the academic mission of NDSU.

Today, our members are affiliated with NDSU and also with Concordia and MSUM and beyond. For our club to grow and provide sufficient funds for academic scholarships, our leadership team is looking into taking the next step that will reach out to the whole academic community while sustaining our rich history and carrying out the best opportunities for all members. We welcome your feedback regarding this idea. Please contact any board member with your thoughts.

It is my pleasure to say that our Fall Event speaker is Chris Linnares, known for her empowering book, The Beautiful Women of North Dakota, and her energizing "Diva Dance." Please join us in sharing the inspiration from Chris' talk at our Fall Event. Looking forward to sharing our common values and fun as we celebrate another year of our club.

Chris Linnares Inspires Beauty and Empowerment

International author, renowned Brazilian psychotherapist, and Weight Loss Master Coach, Chris Linnares is a leading voice for women's wellness. Chris shares her personal journey—from tropical Brazil to tundra Fargo—and the life experiences that inspired her to celebrate other women's journeys, too.

Her books on women's health and empowerment include the award-winning book and social project Beautiful Women of North Dakota™. Founder of the Dance your own Dance Foundation and creator of the acclaimed Diva Dance®, her newest venture encourages young kids—more than 12,000 in 2011— to use Art and Literature to expand the definition of beauty and bring human values to light. Sharing her life journey and inspiring projects these days is her husband Billy Black Marcil and their children.

Linnares is a member of the International Coach Federation and serves on the Board of the YWCA Cass Clay.

ACTion Team ... Fresh Take on an Old Tradition

Looking back at our archives, you'll find the tradition of volunteering goes back to our earliest years as the North Dakota Agricultural College Faculty Women's Club. Yes, there was a lot of emphasis on tea service back then, but not totally! Now, we're again offering club-wide opportunities for community service.

This summer we've stapled insulation for Habitat for Humanity's Women-Build in West Fargo, we've stuffed backpacks for United Way's back-to-school project for kids at the Fargodome, and distributed backpacks at Concordia in Moorhead. What's next? That's a work in progress we hope you'll join in. Sharing and nurturing ideas and volunteering time. For more info, contact a Board member or visit our new Facebook portal page. We're currently seeking an ACTion Team leader to coordinate, and we definitely encourage you to take part in volunteering when and how you can.

Scholarship Award Introduction at Fall Event

Our newest scholarship award recipient will be announced at the Fall Event, Sept. 12. NDSU Women's Club has offered financial support since its early days. First, the Club gave loans to students in need—as little as $10. As the organization evolved, scholarship awards began, and currently the scholarship award is $1000. Now, recipients are selected from qualifying applicants who are women in their junior year at NDSU. Half of every dues payment is dedicated to scholarship awards, and optional contributions in addition are welcomed.

Interest Groups Offer You Fun and Learning Every Month of the Year....

Book Group is a freewheeling, year-round discussion of what we've read recently. Book exchange options and book donations to local libraries ... and tasty treats. Meets First Tuesday evening.

International Women meets for evenings of diverse programs on countries or topics along with samples of international cuisine. Meets Third Thursday evening during the academic year.

Midday Meetup is a casual year-round lunch gathering for conversation, news exchange, and whatever comes up. Meets Second Wednesday midday. Join us! You never know who might drop by our table ▷▷▷

Valley Gardeners group for the green thumb growers or those who want to green up the world. Meets Second Wednesday evening.

Sewing Group meets both afternoon and evening to match your busy life. Mending, stitching, knitting... whatever your fingers itch to do. Meets First Thursday afternoon and Fourth Thursday evening.

Writers' Group fun writing meet-up that stretches your haiku and other poetry writing. First and Third Tuesday noon meeting.

Gourmet Group sets up theme dinners for members and guests. Evening schedule varies, selected by participants.

New groups evolve to meet member tastes. What interests you? Check off any or all groups on the dues form on the back page and we'll add you to those groups' contact lists.

Even if you're already a member of a group or groups, please check off all groups that you participate in or wish to be included in. We update member records to better serve your interests and keep you informed.

JOLT! - Just One Little Thing

Wish you could do more to give back to the Women's Club but lack the time for a year's commitment as a board officer or group leader? There's there's a way you can volunteer within the Club — let us know you can do JOLT! That's our internal volunteer program. We'll ask for volunteers online from time to time, but we also welcome sign-ups for the JOLT Volunteer Bank. So tell us, what would you like to do? Feedback forms will be available at the Fall Event.

Reviewing Our History, Reviewing Our Brand

This summer, the Board has begun a review of what our brand is, whether we're relevant to current needs and wants of our membership, and whether we're preparing our organization for the next decade, the next century of existence. Facilitated by Sandy Huseby, the Brand Review Work Group is looking at our name and whether it accurately reflects the panorama of our membership and is welcoming to prospective members. We are also examining issues members have already brought to our attention, such as sponsorship. Does our mission statement accurately reflect what the organization is in the 21st Century? Do our bylaws cover the responsibilities—and opportunities—of the organization now? We're a casual group working on answers and we'll tell you more at the upcoming Fall Event. We invite, we solicit, heck, we're begging for your input, your feedback, your ideas, your participation. Talk to us!

ACTion Team's Habitat for Humanity Woman Build Day, July 11, 2011, in West Fargo. We came, we sawed, we measured, we caulked, we insulated, we noshed, and we enjoyed good company for a good deed, a good day.

ACTion Team did a double-header in August. We stuffed backpacks at the Fargodome one Thursday and followed the next Thursday with distribution of backpacks and school supplies at Concordia.
