Before you know it, your student will be off on a new adventure: life as an NDSU student. Yes, it’s an exciting time, but it also can be stressful. How will your student do academically? Will they like school? And is there support available if they need help? Answers to these common questions can be found on the pages of this calendar. We’ll give you information on everything from financial aid deadlines to tips on talking to your student about alcohol. We hope this calendar will not only help you keep track of important dates, but also serve as a valuable resource. Our goal is to ease each family’s transition to college life by keeping you informed and connected.

If you have questions, email ndsu.familyprograms@ndsu.edu.

The academic and financial deadlines published in this calendar are for full semester courses. Deadlines for courses shorter than the full semester are prorated based on actual course start and end dates which can be seen at ndsu.edu/registrar/dates.

Family Programs

While students bear the brunt of adjusting to their new life away from home, families also are transitioning. Student Success Programs is dedicated to providing resources for family members as a way to support and encourage their student. Regular electronic newsletters that highlight campus services and programs as well as a comprehensive website provide valuable information. Like your student, our goal is to help your student succeed at NDSU.

Some terms to know

Academic Adviser A faculty or staff member who helps a student decide which courses to take and assists students in using university resources and career planning.

Academic College One of the seven colleges at NDSU: Agriculture, Food Systems, and Natural Resources; Arts, Humanities and Social Sciences; Business; Engineering; Health Professions; Human Sciences and Education, and Science and Mathematics. Each college offers a variety of majors.

Academic Probation A student’s GPA is low enough that they are considered in “serious academic difficulty,” but not low enough to be suspended. (See ndsu.edu/OnStop)

Academic Suspension Requires a student to withdraw from all university courses for a minimum of two academic semesters. Academic suspension may be imposed when the academically deficient student does not demonstrate an improvement in their cumulative GPA.

ACE Tutoring Center A free tutoring center led by student tutors for various 100/100 level courses.

Add/Drop The procedure used to alter class schedules after registration.

Audit Enrolling in a course and attending the classes but not receiving academic credit.

Baccalaureate Degree (also known as Bachlor’s degree) The degree awarded upon completion of all of the university and college curricula.

Campus Connection A student information system that is used for a variety of functions: registering for classes, accessing academic records, changing schedules, reviewing accounts receivable balances and updating contact information.

Campus Safety Escort Service University Police provide escorts to students walking to and from campus buildings and parking lots after dark.

Career and Advising Center This office specializes in career education and preparing students for maximum employability. They help students with resume writing, interviewing skills, finding paid internships in their major and putting students in contact with prospective employers.

Counseling Center Where students can receive assistance, free of charge, with their personal, career and/or academic lives. The center is staffed with professional counselors. Study skills (EDUC 123) classes also are available.

Credits A credit is a unit used to compute the amount of work required for graduation. One semester credit is equivalent to one lecture period in class per week.

Dead Week Dead week allows for only one exam or quiz to be given, per course, during the last two weeks of the semester, which includes finals week.

Dean’s List List of students attaining a 3.5 GPA or better while completing at least 12 credits with honor points in a semester (9 credits during summer term).

Disability Services A department that assists students with documented disabilities with accommodations.

Elective Any course not required as part of the General Education Program or the student’s major.

Exams (midterms and finals) One of the biggest changes students experience in the transition to college is relative infrequency of exams. Grades for many college courses are based on two or three exams, a midterm, a final and possible projects or papers.

First-generation College Student A student whose parents or legal guardians have not completed a bachelor’s degree at a four-year college or university. This means that the student is the first in their family to attend a four-year institution to earn a bachelor’s degree.

First-year Experience Halls The goals are to assist students in their intellectual and personal development and to improve students’ satisfaction with the college experience while living with students who are all experiencing their first year at NDSU.

Full-time Student For federal financial aid purposes, 12 credits are considered full time for undergraduate students each semester. At NDSU, however, 15 credits are considered a standard academic credit load.

Graduate Student A student who already has a baccalaureate degree and is continuing their education toward a master’s degree or doctorate.

Homework Rule of thumb is two hours for every hour spent in class. Some classes may require more.

Incomplete A grade given at the discretion of the instructor due to extraordinary circumstances if a project/assignment is not finished on time. A student has until the seventh week of the following semester to finish the project or get an automatic F.

Information Technology Services (ITS) Windows and Apple computer labs are located across campus, along with printers and a variety of software used in academic courses. ITS offers technology training and support for students.

ITS Student Technology Services A work based learning program staffed and managed by students and offers real work experience incorporated with technical and life skills training.

Major A group of related courses which constitute a focused program of study in a specific area of knowledge.

NDSU ID Card The entrance pass to most college activities. The NDSU ID card is needed to get into dining and residence halls, check out materials/rooms at the library, use campus printers, access the Wallman Wellness Center, attend certain athletic events, ride the Metro bus and cash checks.

Registration The act of signing up for classes.

Residence Hall The place many students call home while at NDSU.

Resident Assistant (RA) RAs are sophomore, junior or senior students employed and trained by the university to orient, advise and assist fellow students. If your student has difficulties in the residence hall and is unable to resolve them alone, they should go to an RA for help.

Section Refers to one of several classes of the same course offered at different times and/or locations. For example, there may be 80 sections of English 130.

Student Health Service Health Service provides students with readily accessible health care, including physicians and nurse practitioners, laboratories and a pharmacy, all located in the Wallman Wellness Center.

Transcript A complete record of college course work and grades.

Tri-Colleges A consortium of Concordia College, Minnesota State University Moorhead, Minnesota State Community and Technical College, North Dakota State College of Science and NDSU, allowing students to take certain courses at each institution.

TRIO Student Support Services A federal-funded grant program that provides one-on-one tutoring, advising, mentoring and more to eligible students.

Withdrawl Students who have registered and then decide to drop all courses after the semester start date must officially withdraw from the university. Go online for withdrawal instructions. (ndsu.edu/OnStop)
Connections to wellness resources

Student Health Service. NDSU’s campus clinic and pharmacy, provides quality health care while promoting overall student well being. Our team of highly qualified professionals supports our diverse student population through promotion, prevention, education and treatment. Health promotion includes overall student well-being, substance use education, sexual assault prevention and advocacy, as well as peer education programs for students to serve as role models while encouraging others to make healthy lifestyle choices.

Getting involved on campus

September is a great time for students to get involved on campus. There are countless opportunities to develop professional and social relationships, be introduced to new ideas and different cultures and apply coursework through co-curricular involvement. Research shows involved students are more successful in their courses and have a better overall college experience. With more than 250 student organizations and other leadership opportunities available, there is something for everyone.

The Student Activities Office in the Memorial Union offers a variety of programs and services to help students get involved. Programs are designed to enhance educational experiences, increase student skills and develop leadership abilities. Student Activities Office staff members help students choose campus activities that are the best fit.

Career and Advising Center

At NDSU, a student’s career journey begins on Day 1. The Career and Advising Center, located in Ceres Hall, delivers comprehensive career services to students and alumni through a network of academic advisers, career coaches, career mentors, faculty, staff, and employers. Services include drop-in-style academic advising, career coaching, an internship program, career expos and fairs, and access to a one-stop career management tool – CAREERLINK. Students can receive guidance on career exploration, resume and cover letter development, interviewing techniques and graduate school preparation with no appointments needed. It is beneficial for students to start engaging with the Career and Advising Center their first year and continue through graduation.

Academic advising
Planning ahead is a key to college success, and although the semester is only half completed, students should start thinking about spring semester. Faculty and staff members serve as academic advisers, helping students with their academic planning, including course selection. Advisers also assist students with career planning and how to use campus and community resources. Though they can meet at any time in the semester, students typically meet with their adviser this month to discuss course registration plans for the next semester. Adviser assignments can be found on Campus Connection.

Tutoring services
ACE Tutoring is a free academic support program available to all enrolled undergraduate students. ACE offers tutoring for more than 100 NDSU courses.

What about my student’s finances?
Now is the time to start planning ahead financially for next year. The Financial Aid and Scholarships Office provides students information and access to financial aid programs that enable them to pursue their educational objectives at NDSU. The specialized services are sensitive to student needs with emphasis on quality, accuracy and efficiency.

Who should complete the Free Application for Federal Student Aid?
Any student requesting financial assistance from NDSU should complete the FAFSA at fafsa.gov. We recommend students submit the FAFSA electronically by Feb. 1 for priority consideration. The Pell Grant and Direct loan programs are not subject to this deadline date.

Transportation on campus and around the Fargo-Moorhead community

MATBUS is the public transit system serving Fargo-Moorhead and surrounding area. MATBUS and NDSU partner in the U-Pass program ensuring all NDSU students have free access to transportation in the area. Offering numerous routes, MATBUS operates Monday through Friday from 6:15 a.m. to 11:15 p.m. and Saturdays from 7:15 a.m. to 11:15 p.m.

The MATBUS App is available for iOS or Android smartphones and includes a real-time bus tracking feature for all routes in the Fargo-Moorhead area.

Safety on campus

The Fargo-Moorhead community has one of the lowest violent crime rates in the country. Although few crimes are reported at NDSU each year, a well-informed student body helps ensure a safe campus. Police officers from the University Police and Safety Office provide round-the-clock vehicle patrol all year and public safety officers conduct foot patrols each evening. In an emergency, students can use any of the emergency blue lights found across campus. NDSU regularly offers informational training opportunities related to safety and security throughout the academic year. NDSU police or public safety officers also provide a campus safety escort service by offering walk-along or vehicle transport for students, faculty and staff to NDSU facilities or locations adjacent to campus.

NDSU Personal Safety + Security Assist

This service includes the smartphone app Pathlight® that allows NDSU police to monitor your status remotely when you initiate a safety assist on your device. You set your destination and approximate travel time in the app, and dispatchers will quickly respond if you don’t arrive within the given timeframe or you activate a silent alarm with the swipe of a finger.

NDSU does not provide the ability for parents and others to receive these messages directly. However, when reasonably able to do so during an emergency, NDSU will post emergency updates on its homepage.

Campus emergency notification system

In the event of a threatening emergency, alerts are sent by one or more methods:
- email
- text messages
- emergency voice messages to a cell or landline phone through Assurance NM

• a recorded information phone line (231-INFO) for winter weather
• audio/video interruption of campus TVs

NDSU’s homepage will redirect you to emergency information. Students sign up for Assurance NM via Campus Connection. Student employees are automatically enrolled and update their information with the Human Resources and Payroll Office. NDSU does not provide the ability for parents and others to receive these messages directly.

Multicultural Programs

- Multicultural students who identify themselves as such in their student records receive emails that include news of upcoming activities and programs sponsored by the Office of Multicultural Programs. If your student is not receiving these emails and wishes to, your student can contact the Office of Multicultural Programs at 701-231-1029 or at ndsu.multicultural@ndsu.edu.

Study Abroad

Studying abroad encourages transformative learning opportunities that foster academic development, personal growth and intercultural competence that are indispensable elements of a quality education in today’s global society. With opportunities to study and intern both domestically or abroad, Office of International Student and Study Abroad Services staff advise students to find the best fit for them. Visit ndsu.edu/studyabroad or stop by the office, Memorial Union 116, to learn more.

Multicultural Programs

- The Office of Multicultural Programs serves students who are part of traditionally underrepresented ethnic groups and are either U.S. citizens or permanent residents. Some of the groups represented at NDSU include African American/Black, American Indian/Alaska Native, Asian/Pacific Islander, and Hispanic/Latino/Chicano. Students can visit with multicultural programs staff about a variety of issues such as academics, housing, financial aid and how to be successful at NDSU. The office is located on the main floor of the Memorial Union.

Living away from home

Your student’s living environment can have a profound impact on their personal and educational development. The residence halls at NDSU provide a clean, comfortable and affordable home for students where the pursuit of academic success is encouraged and supported. On-campus living offers a chance to make new friends and become part of a learning-focused community. The Department of Residence Life supports students by providing a vibrant, healthy place to live and learn. Your student’s living environment will create new freedoms and responsibilities. Listen openly as your student navigates new relationships and develops their own schedule for living independently.

ndsugreek.com 701-231-8565

Fraternity and Sorority Life

Being part of Fraternity and Sorority Life at NDSU could benefit your student. Members learn a variety of skills, and gain friendships and professional contacts. Each of NDSU’s national sororities and fraternities is unique in its history, philanthropic charity and traditions. But they all value leadership, scholarship, service and friendship.

Residence Life

NDSU Upper-division Student Living

NDSU Residence Life provides more than a bed, we provide a place to grow. Learn, connect, explore and make an impact. Fortunately, the Residence Life experience doesn’t end after a student’s freshman year. From state-of-the art residence halls to modern apartment living, Residence Life provides a variety of housing options for non-first-year students.

Conversations for Student Success

It’s important to have conversations with your student about expectations during their college experience, including substance use and consent. NDSU is a dry campus and it’s strictly enforced. According to North Dakota Student Wellness and Perception Survey, not all of our students choose to drink, or believe one needs alcohol to have a good time. NDSU also prohibits any conduct of sexual harassment, gender-based harassment and sexual misconduct. It is encouraged to talk to your student in a realistic manner, set standards of behavior and conduct, and answer any questions they may have. Be sure to not be overly judgmental, or minimize a potential problem that may arise. Being concrete and informative will help direct your student. If you need ideas on how to start the conversation, Parents Lead can help at www.parentslead.org/parents. To best prepare your student, start by talking about the importance of mental health, sleep and healthy eating:

- College can have plenty of high highs and low lows, so they need to know the warning signs and how to take proper action when reaching out for help.
- Sleep is something students should take very seriously because lack of sleep can truly take a toll on our bodies, brains and moods.
- Research has shown that students eating healthy meals is linked to higher grades, better memory and alertness, and faster information processing.

Taking these steps will add to a student’s success!

Get Involved

Within Health Promotion, we have a variety of programs and opportunities that allow students to make their mark. There are three peer education groups, Healthy Herd Champions, Body Project and Violence Prevention Educators. Each group allows students to gain knowledge, develop leadership and critical thinking skills, expand their social network, gain experience in program planning and build their resume. Like us on Facebook @NDSUHealthPromotion and follow us on Instagram @NDSUbodyProject @NDSUHealthyHerd @NDSUVPES for the latest updates.

Dining

- From international cuisine to home-style classics, NDSU Dining provides a nutritious, innovative and high-quality dining experience that will satisfy your every craving and keep you coming back for seconds.

Dining Center Meal Plans

- The value of our five- and seven-day unlimited meal plans can’t be beat—providing endless variety and the ability to pop in for a meal or a quick bite. This option provides the ease and convenience of getting whatever you want, whenever you want it.

Dining Center Block Plans

- Not interested in a full meal plan, but don’t want to miss out on everything the dining centers offer? Our block plans offer reduced pricing, while still giving you access to all three dining centers.

Food Court

- Located in the lower level of the Memorial Union, NDSU Dining offers a variety of options to grab and go or enjoy on the spot.

Coffee Shops

- NDSU Dining offers full-service coffee shops around campus that not only provide a caffeine pick-me-up, but a variety of snack and food options.

Employment

- NDSU Dining is the largest employer on campus. No driving, flexible schedules, promotional opportunities and great pay—it is a great fit for students who want a job.
What if my student wants to change majors/careers?

Students who wish to change or declare a new major or second major must meet with a professional adviser to discuss possible changes. The adviser will process the change with Registration and Records. Students may make advising appointments on Navigate.

Family members and the NDSU Impact Fund

Each year, family members are invited to support the NDSU Impact Fund, which provides funding for programs that have a direct and positive impact on students’ lives. Available to students, faculty, staff and recognized student groups, the NDSU Impact Fund is supported by contributions. Grants of $10,000 to $75,000 are offered through the NDSU Impact Fund Grant Program. By partnering with proud parents, families, alumni and friends, the NDSU Foundation has awarded major grants that have had an immediate impact on current and future NDSU students.

- Donations to the NDSU Impact Fund have helped award grants to:
  - Provide students with a convenient transportation option with the BikeShare program.
  - Enhance student learning with a digital radiography system in the veterinary technology program.
  - Provide the Gold Star Marching Band with its own truck to haul equipment needed to perform at various venues and events.
  - Purchase equipment for discovery-based learning in a STEM, multidisciplinary team, to discover possible new therapeutic techniques for improving overall human health.
  - Install pro-level projection in Festival Concert Hall and Beckwith Recital Hall, and digital signage boards in the Challey Atrium.
  - Create an Additive Manufacturing Laboratory with enhanced 3-D printing capabilities, providing students with hands-on experience using next-generation advanced manufacturing technology.
  - Sponsor a symposium on collaborations in public health, hosted by the American Indian Public Health Resource Center and NDSU Department of Public Health in the College of Health Professions.
  - Install a wireless presentation system in the existing “smart” classrooms to give instructors, students and presenters the ability to project to the classroom display from anywhere in the room using their mobile device or laptop.

The Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act

Parents and legal guardians of college students should understand the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974, otherwise known as FERPA or the Buckley Amendment. FERPA affords students the following rights related to their education records:

- Right to inspect and review education records
- Right to seek to amend education records
- Right to have some control over the disclosure of information from education records
- Right to file a complaint with the U.S. Department of Education.

FERPA allows for directory information to be released to third parties upon request unless a student has provided written consent to the university indicating otherwise. Directory information is generally not considered harmful or an invasion of privacy if disclosed. It includes, but is not limited to, student contact information, major, year in school, honors and awards, enrollment status and degree earned.

What rights do parents or legal guardians have with student records?

Education records are not automatically shared with third parties, including parents and guardians if they contain sensitive non-directory information about a student. Nondirectory information includes academic and financial records, such as grades, GPAs, account balances, financial aid awards, any records containing social security numbers or health/medical information. Students may provide a signed and dated consent form to NDSU to authorize release of education record information to parents or guardians. Consent must specify the type of records that may be disclosed, purpose of disclosure and party or parties to whom disclosure may be made. Some exceptions include disclosures to:

- School officials with legitimate educational interests
- Parents of a dependent student as defined by the IRS tax code and verified with tax records
- Federal or state authorities for research and evaluation purposes
- Compliance with a judicial order or subpoena
- Aid in a health or safety emergency
- Parent of student under 21 if the student has committed a violation of the institution's drug or alcohol policies.

NDSU's annual notification of FERPA (student privacy) and FERPA Consent to Release Form are available at ndsu.edu/registrar. Questions or concerns regarding FERPA may be directed to the university registrar:
