NOW Accepting Applications for the next Cohort of the Food Systems Leadership Institute

Recruitment is underway for Cohort 6

The FSLI is a national leadership development program of APLU with a mission to create leaders who are dedicated to developing a broader, more integrated and collaborative food system. It is designed for experienced leaders from higher education, government and industry. The FSLI is developing leaders who are equipped to address the diverse challenges and opportunities of today and those of tomorrow.

Find out how to:
- Grow in your Leadership Abilities
- Build Skills for Organizational Change
- Grasp the Complexity of the Food Systems

Visit our website, www.fsli.org, for more information on this important program.