Role of the Master of Public Health Degree in Professional Development

Learn more about opportunities for ongoing public health training from NDSU Master of Public Health program faculty.

FLEXIBLE PROGRAM TO MEET YOUR NEEDS
The NDSU Master of Public Health certificate and degree can both be earned by attending evening classes, either face-to-face or through video conferencing. Learn about different study options, how to apply and the process to complete the certificate or degree.

WEDNESDAY, JAN. 17, 2018
11:30 a.m. to 12:20 p.m.

LOCATION: Delivered from NDSU, by videoconference in Room 214A J-Wing, Gold Seal 4th Floor Conference Room, Room 104 Burlington Building and Disease Control Conference Room

FORMAT: Info provided by NDSU Master of Public Health faculty along with time for questions.

WHO SHOULD ATTEND: Individuals interested in opportunities and specializations available to enhance their career through further education in public health.