“I love philosophy because it allows me to explore the possible answers to questions left over from any scientific venture.”

Sage Bendickson
NDSU philosophy major
NDSU offers a philosophy curriculum which may be approached either as an interdisciplinary philosophy minor or a philosophy-humanities major or minor.

It makes practical sense to question assumptions about the world in which we live. Philosophers trailblaze pathways to understanding the human condition through dialogue, logic, critical reasoning and creative thought.

Leaders and entrepreneurs are able to see flaws in what is accepted, and then find innovative ways to make their lives and the world a better place to be. Some of today’s most successful entrepreneurs have academic backgrounds in philosophy, including the founders of LinkedIn, PayPal, Slack, HP and YouTube.

“Philosophy has prepared me for law school because it required me to make arguments and be critical of other people’s arguments.”

Gavin Mindt
NDSU philosophy and history graduate, current law student

DO YOU WONDER ABOUT TRUTH, EVIDENCE, MORALITY, RELIGION, SOCIAL AND POLITICAL STRUCTURES AND OTHER REALITIES THAT AFFECT HOW YOU LIVE YOUR LIFE?

MAJORING IN PHILOSOPHY SHARPENS YOUR ABILITY TO:
> REASON CRITICALLY
> THINK CREATIVELY
> LIVE ETHICALLY
> ENGAGE EFFECTIVELY

Benefits of NDSU’s program include:
• Design your degree, including the option to do a directed study. This means working one-on-one with a professor and self-crafting the course content.
• Enjoy a high placement rate – 100% of our students either find employment or pursue graduate studies after earning their degree.
• Complete your philosophy requirements in as little as two years.
• Increase your chance for success. Most philosophy undergraduate majors enhance their knowledge and skills base, as well as their value to future employers, by designing their academic career with philosophy and a complementary major.
