PEER TEACHING PARTNERSHIP

A personalized teaching partnership between two faculty members with a shared vision of improving teaching and learning at NDSU.

FOR NDSU FACULTY & INSTRUCTIONAL STAFF
PEER TEACHING PARTNERSHIP

A PERSONALIZED TEACHING PARTNERSHIP BETWEEN TWO FACULTY MEMBERS WITH A SHARED VISION OF IMPROVING TEACHING AND LEARNING AT NDSU.

Participants will work with another NDSU faculty or instructional staff member who also has a desire to improve his or her teaching and student learning. You will focus on experiences, and document your efforts to become thoughtful practitioners in teaching and learning.

Great teachers value professional improvement.

REQUIRED ACTIVITIES:
Together you will:
• set goals,
• share syllabi,
• decide how many times you will meet and observe your partner’s class,
• consider and grapple with your teaching philosophy and practice, and
• discuss how you best receive critiques.

OPTIONAL LEARNING:
Transform your teaching through reflective learning. You may decide to do the following:
• write a letter about the process you engaged in which may be used in professional advancement documents,
• keep a journal, and/or
• write a reflective paper.

These activities are optional but they provide projects that may enhance your teaching portfolio.

PEER TEACHING PARTNERSHIP
As with any academic field, the Scholarship of Teaching and Learning informs our understanding of what works in the classroom. We know that observing each other in the classroom, and discussing it with others, is a great way to become a better teacher. This program aims to get NDSU faculty and teaching staff involved in those observations and discussions.
