The NDSU Office of Teaching and Learning is committed to your success and offers the following resources.

FACULTY RESOURCES WEBPAGE

Whether you are teaching face-to-face, online, partially online for the first time, or are an experienced educator seeking additional information, the faculty resource section of our website is designed for you. We have developed these resources to help you prepare for and excel in your course.

TEACHING AND LEARNING CONFERENCE

A mini-conference addressing current teaching and learning topics for instructors. This event is held annually, immediately after spring semester.

BOOK CLUBS

A book club is an excellent way to learn of new teaching methods, strategies, and practices. Participating in a book club allows you to read and discuss the application of these new teaching approaches with colleagues from across the university. Book clubs can be organized by any faculty member, instructional staff, and/or graduate teaching assistant. If you are interested in hosting a book club, email Stacy.Duffield@ndsu.edu.

FACULTY LEARNING COMMUNITIES

Faculty learning communities (FLC) are offered at various times throughout the year. If you are interested in offering an FLC for the NDSU teaching community, contact our office early with details about your FLC and we will help you organize and promote it.
