Residence Hall Association

Volume 1, Issue 3

October 2016

THANK YOU

The Residence Hall Association Executive Board would like to thank everyone for showing their Bison Pride throughout homecoming week. We were happy that each hall was able to create a board to represent themselves. We were also very happy with the turnout for the Homecoming Dance which was planned by Program Council where students were able to enjoy an animal-themed night of food, fun, and of course dancing. We would also like to thank all of the volunteers who helped to create and walk with our Homecoming Float during the parade.

UPCOMING: BOO! AT NDSU

CHILDREN'S CARNIVAL & TRICK-OR-TREATING IN THE RESIDENCE HALLS
OPEN TO THE PUBLIC • NO COST • CHILDREN MUST BE ACCOMPANIED BY AN ADULT
THURSDAY OCTOBER 27 5:00 TO 7:30 PM
MATHEW LIVING LEARNING CENTER
1435 18TH ST. N. COME @ COSTUME!
SPONSORED BY THE NDSU VOLUNTEER NETWORK & NDSU RESIDENCE LIFE

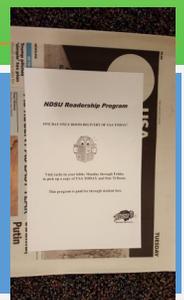

There will be a carnival and trick-or-treating on the NDSU campus on Thursday, October 27th from 5:00 to 7:30 pm. We invite the children from the Fargo-Moorhead area to come to campus to trick-or-treat in Pavek, Seim, Thompson, Sevrinson, RJ, and Weible. They will also have the opportunity to attend a carnival at the MLLC with booths and classrooms set up by the other halls as well as several other organizations on campus. The children all dress up in costumes and the event is truly a blast and we hope that you all are able to participate in some way.

COLLEGIATE READERSHIP PROGRAM

Interested in current sports? Trying to stay up to date with the presidential election? Well, look no further; the Collegiate Readership Program provides on-campus students with daily copies of USA Today, Minneapolis Star Tribune, and Fargo Forum newspapers, which can help keep you up to date on all of your local and national news needs.

INFORMATION TECHNOLOGY SERVICES

4 tech tips that will make your life easier

Use these tech tips to stay on top of your academic game this semester. For more resources, visit the ITS news site: www.ndsu.edu/its/news/detail/25922

1. Don't store your whole life on one device.

Storing everything on one device, without any back-up copies, is risky. You have options when it comes to storing and sharing files, including Google Drive and Microsoft OneDrive, which is included with your Office 365 account. With these accounts, you can view and edit your work from anywhere you have access to the Internet. That way, if your device crashes, you won't lose your work.

2. Don't make your workgroup pack around one computer.

There are better ways for your group to collaborate on a project than crowding around a single computer in a lab. On the second floor of the Quentin Burdick Building and in study rooms in the Library, large screens make it easy for you to connect a device and share the screen with your peers. If you all want to make changes to a document at the same time, Google Drive and OneDrive make real-time, collaborative editing possible. With these tools, you can complete your project in a fraction of the time.

3. Download free software.

Microsoft office, Skype for Business, Mathematica, MATLAB & Simulink, Read & Write, and Statistical Analysis System are all available to NDSU students. You can also get free security software recommended for students who don't have antivirus installed on their personal computers. Why pay for software when you can get it for free?

4. Stay connected to save time.

Use your smartphone to its full capability. A majority of NDSU students check email at least 16 times per week and 9 out of 10 students use a personal calendar to prioritize their academic work. Your daily online routine may also involve checking for grades, assignment due dates, and bus ETAs. Simplify your life by syncing your email and calendar on your phone so you don't have to click through NDSU's website every time you need to check your email or confirm your schedule. Download the free Blackboard Mobile app from your device's app store to get instant access to your grades, assignments and announcements from instructors. Add Matbusmobile.com to your favorites to quickly view a live bus tracker, so you won't miss it ever again.

COME VISIT THE EXECUTIVE BOARD

Our office is located in Seim Hall (just dial the office number on the phone in the doorway to get in). We would be happy to answer your questions about student leadership opportunities.
