Cannon Rebel XTI

Physical Shock

- The camera is a precision instrument and it should not be subjected to physical shock or rough handling. Take care by using the strap and following safe handling methods to prevent accidental dropping of the camera!
Cannon Rebel XTI

Excessive heat (inside a car under direct sunlight etc.) can cause the camera to malfunction.

Heat & Water

The camera is not waterproof and should be protected from rain, snow or other natural elements.
Cannon Rebel XTI

- Do not leave the camera or the memory card in areas with a strong magnetic field or a source emitting radio waves.

Magnetic Fields

Such areas to be avoided include areas close to a magnet, electric motor and antennas.
Condensation may form in the camera if it is brought suddenly from the cold into a warm room.

Condensation

In such situations, first put the camera into a sealed bag and let it slowly adjust to the warmer temperatures before taking it out.
Do not store the camera in areas where there are corrosive chemicals such as in a lab or near cleaning supplies.
Lens  Do Not,
Under Any Circumstances,
Remove The Lens !

- Lens surface and electrical contacts between the camera and the lens are very sensitive and easily damaged.
