Getting off on the right foot
Shoe company maintains popularity for more than 50 years

By ROY HAN
China Daily

A 105-year-old Beijing veteran who says "step in shoes that will not go good fortune at your feet." But despite the challenges faced in the last 150 years, the old Beijing shoe company has managed to increase its clientele from a small number of local customers to a wide range of consumers, as well as a number of members of the royal family.

Today, the shoe company, which has been in operation since 1886, is known throughout the world for its high-quality shoes. The company was founded by a Chinese immigrant who arrived in America in the late 1800s. He opened his first shoe shop in New York City and quickly became successful.

Today, the company is run by his descendants who continue to produce high-quality shoes. The company is also known for its excellent customer service, with employees who are trained to provide exceptional service to each customer.

The shoe company is also known for its commitment to sustainability. The company uses only environmentally friendly materials and processes, and is committed to reducing its carbon footprint.

In recognition of its long history and commitment to quality, the company has received numerous awards and accolades. It has been named one of the world's best shoe companies, and its shoes have been featured in numerous fashion magazines and on the red carpet at events around the world.

The shoe company is proud of its history and its commitment to quality, and continues to provide high-quality shoes to customers around the world. The brand is a symbol of excellence and durability, and its shoes are designed to last a lifetime.

The company's long history and commitment to quality have helped it to maintain its popularity for over 100 years, and it continues to grow and expand its reach into new markets around the world.