Headline exercise 1

Write a 1-18-3 above each of these short stories. Use the computer's broadsheet head size calculator to fit. (Note: as you are now the headline writer, someone else has copy edited the stories, so no need for you to.) DO NOT PRINT OUT THIS PAGE! Read the stories on screen, write or type the headlines on a separate sheet to hand in, identifying each by "slug" line (brief name used by editors to track stories). Be sure to indicate breaks for each line of the three-line heds.

Slug: assault

PARK RAPIDS, Minn (AP)--A 33-year-old St. Paul, Minn., man is being held in Hubbard County Jail here pending first appearance in court Monday on a charge of first-degree assault arising from the wounding by 12-gauge shotgun of his 65-year-old father, also of St. Paul.

Donald Allen Jones was taken into custody Monday at Duck Lake on the Hubbard-Wadena County line. He is being held in lieu of $10,000 bail.

According to Hubbard Sheriff Larry Johnson, Frank Jones was shot in the side as he walked out of the lake cabin after a domestic quarrel Sunday. Jones was treated and released at an area hospital.

Slug: employee award

A graduate of Luverne, Minn., High School, she received her bachelor of science degree from Northern State University, Aberdeen, S.D.

Slug: BB champs

It was the same old story, as the West Snowshoe State University Women's Basketball Team continued to pick up steam in a quest for a third straight national championship. Like a snowplow, the Frostbiters iced over Northern Colorado 94-57, then froze out Nebraska-Omaha 97-63.

Seniors Debra Nern and Frances Frick closed out their regular season careers at the Frostbiter's Chalet Sports Arena as the university remains in command of the No. 1 ranking.

Slug: bridge tourney
